Invocation Prayer (In Unison):

Invocation Prayer (In Unison):

O God, we come thirsting for you.

O God, we come thirsting for you.

Whether we are in the springtime of our youth, the summer of our years or in the winter of our aging—we all have the same desire to be closer to you.

Whether we are in the springtime of our youth, the summer of our years or in the winter of our aging—we all have the same desire to be closer to you.

In the big picture of life, God, we know we have such a short span of life, but even so, we draw close to you to find ways to love, serve and live with compassion and peace and grace.

In the big picture of life, God, we know we have such a short span of life, but even so, we draw close to you to find ways to love, serve and live with compassion and peace and grace.

Today we ask your blessing on this service as we bring into focus the love and grace you have extended to the older adults in our congregation. May we be ever mindful of their vitality and spiritual strength, even as their physical energy diminishes.

Come, Holy Spirit, come, here in this place; gather us in; call to us now; awaken to your presence. Amen
