“ In Washing My Sister's Feet, Gimbiya Kettering tells a heartwarming and deeply relatable story of sibling tension that grips readers with layers that touch faith, culture, service, identity, and community. The book brilliantly makes the Church of the Brethren's love feast tradition both the context and the formational practice at the heart of the story, offering meaningful reflection for little and big people alike who are navigating conflict. It is beautifully written, accessible for children, and brought to life with perfect complementary illustrations. This is the children's book you need to gift to your loved ones! ”

—Drew G. I. Hart, Associate Professor of Theology at Messiah University and the author of Making It Plain: Why We Need Anabaptism and the Black Church
